Committee Proposes Increase In Bond Issue For Schools

MAKES UP NEW BUDGET WHEN COUNTY AUDITOR SAYS BONDING CAPACITY MORE THAN ESTIMATE

Election to Ask for $500,000 Will Be Topic of Discussion for Mass Meeting Called at Wilson School Thursday Night

A REVISED BUDGET for the proposed expansion of the local grammar school system was the principal accomplishment last night of the Citizens' Committee of Fifteen which met with the grammar school board of education. A signed statement from the county auditor's office in regard to the bonding capacity of the school district was submitted by Superintendent Richardson D. White. This showed that the bonding capacity is over $100,000 more than anticipated. It gives $561,289 as the bonding capacity.

After considerable discussion, decision was reached to call a mass meeting Thursday night in the assembly room of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school to consider the calling of a bond election for $500,000.

The new budget provides for expenditures of $22,600 at Cerritos and $2550 at Magnolia schools. It also provides for expenditures at all of the other elementary schools throughout the city. Another site in the northwest section of the city is to be purchased for $30,000.

The citizens' committee decided to give the board of education leeway to a certain extent in the expenditure of the money although estimating the cost of the individual items comprising the budget.

Several important items which it was impossible to include in the former budget because of the established lower bonding capacity of the district, are included in the new budget, according to Mr. White. He is of the opinion that the new budget will be more satisfactory both to the school board and to the parents.

According to the estimate from the county auditor's office, the assessed valuation of the district is $21,910,780. State school law provides that a grammar school district may vote bonds to the extent of 5 per cent of the total assessed valuation. This gives Glendale a bonding capacity of $1,095,539.

However, three groups of bonds are outstanding: Glendale city $504,000, Tropico $21,250, and West Glendale $9000. These total $534,250, which leaves $561,289 available for the new budget if necessary, it is declared.

FIND MURDER CAR AND MAY ARREST SLAYER TODAY

Killer of Detective in Booze Inquiry Soon to Be Jailed, Claim

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—The "murder car" used in the slaying yesterday of William S. Fisher, former private detective and police informer, was found today in a Wall street parking station by A. H. Rote, proprietor of the station, who reported that a machine bearing the same license number as the machine used in the slaying was left at his place.

With the finding of the machine, detectives announced they were working on a clew that was expected to reveal the slayer and his hiding place.

On the face of facts that Fisher recently acted as an "informer" for the police department on the operation of local bootleggers, it was declared he was killed by a gang of illicit liquor dealers.

G. B. WOODBERRY GIVES VIEWS ON EDUCATION AND TAXATION

Writer Refers to 'Mass Meetings' and Also Discusses Bond Issues and Legislation

DECLARING that he is in "favor of suitable and necessary facilities for properly educating the children," but that he strongly objects to some of the plans and methods of those in charge of campaigns for bond issues, G. B. Woodberry, 700 North Verdugo road, has written a lengthy article on the school question and, because of its interest at this time, it is given in full herewith:

Editor The Evening News: May I occupy space in your valuable paper to discuss the question which was taken up at the mass meeting held at the Wilson avenue school on Thursday last, also the general subject.

In the report of this mass meeting appearing in The Glendale Evening News of January 12 it was stated that the writer launched into what was deemed an attack on the educational program of the city.

I wish to state that I am heartily in favor of expending sufficient funds to properly educate the children, but I am thoroughly convinced that under our present California school laws the taxpayers are paying excessive sums and not receiving returns in proportion.

To make my position plain and explain the reasons for my attitude, I wish to go back to the session of the California Legislature held in 1917; the previous Legis-

DANCE, MUSIC AND TALES OF EGYPT AT CLUB MEET

Program at Literary Section Gathering Wins Approval; Illustrate Talks

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Member of Evening News Staff

Mrs. A. P. McBoyle of 369 West Milford street proved a very charming hostess yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Section members and guests crowded the McBoyle home for a most enjoyable program.

Egypt furnished the inspiration for the program, which was featured by a delightful Egyptian dance by Miss Kathleen Woods, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss Dorothy Woods. As an introduction to the dance Miss Woods' mother, Mrs. Nanno Woods, gave a brief sketch on Egyptian dancing.

Arabian Influence

Miss Woods' clever work is well known to Glendale people, and her dance yesterday was a finished piece of artistry. The dance is one that Miss Woods is to give in "An Arabian Love Story," to be presented February 15 at the Glendale theatre by the Community Players, directed by Mrs. Woods.

In explanation of her daughter's dance, Mrs. Woods emphasized the Arabian ancestry of the Egyptians and of the Arabian influence that is seen in Egyptian life and customs, especially in dancing. She and her daughter have recently made a thorough study of the Egyptian and Arabian customs and her talk had a wealth of knowledge as a background.

Just Receives Music

The music for the dance was "Street Dancing" from "Oriental Pictures From the Far East," by George Tomkins, just received by Miss Woods from an eastern publishing house.

For the dance Miss Woods wore an artistic Egyptian costume of black and on her fingers small brass castanets.

Another pleasant part of the program was the roll call arranged by the hostess, Mrs. McBoyle. In response to their names the members gave quota-

POLICE PROBING DANCER'S DEATH

Friends of Cafe Entertainer Grilled by Authorities in Search for Clews

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17.—The authorities continued today to question several young men said to have been friendly with Miss Fritzie Mann, beautiful 20-year-old interpreter of Oriental dances, who was found dead under mysterious circumstances on the beach below Torrey Pines park Monday.

Who was with Miss Mann from the time she left her home here Sunday afternoon ostensibly to join a house party, in whose automobile was she driven out along the Los Angeles highway to Torrey Pines; how did she reach the lonely beach clad only in silk under-garments and dancing pumps, and what caused the hammer-like wound on her forehead, are questions which the police are endeavoring to answer.

Grill Long Beach Man

Los Angeles and Long Beach deputies were set at work on the case when it became known that the beautiful entertainer had recently visited for two months at 505 Loma avenue, Long Beach, with a friend, Miss Bernice Edwards. A young man is being grilled at the latter city, it was said.

Local authorities are divided in opinion as to whether the social favorite and cafe dancer met with foul play or committed suicide. The ugly bruise, badly discolored, and thereby seeming to prove it was made before death, would indicate the former, but the fact that an autopsy showed the girl was in a delicate condition lends strength to the suicide theory.

EPIDEMIC OF DEATH

ATHENS, Jan. 17.—A terrific epidemic today is scourging with deaths the thousands of Christian refugees who fled into Greece from Asia Minor after the defeat of the Greek army by the Turkish nationalists.

TROJAN FRESHMAN BEING HAZED DRAWS PISTOL AND SHOOTS ONE OF STUDENTS

Fires Several Shots, Only One of Which Takes Effect; Victim Wounded In the Foot, Assailant Under Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—One student, Phillips Johnston, was shot through the right foot early today when P. A. Banks became angered by a party of sophomores at the University of Southern California who started to "haze" him and drew a pistol and fired several shots at the members of the hazing party.

Banks was seized by several students who turned him over to a deputy sheriff and taken to a nearby police station, while Johnston was rushed to the receiving hospital.

Other freshmen at the school were taking the hazing in good part, it was stated, when, without warning, Banks drew the gun and started shooting.

5 CHILDREN DIE IN BURNED HOME

Fire Started While Parents Quarrel Takes Toll of Babies' Lives

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Five little children ranging in age from 2 to 13, are dead today as a result, the police say, of a quarrel between their parents which ended when the building in which they lived caught fire early today, trapping the youngsters within.

The father, Joseph Kokalis, in an intoxicated condition, according to the authorities, was carried to the hospital suffering from burns, cuts and lacerations, while the mother, also suffering from cuts and bruises said to have been inflicted by the husband, was restrained from dashing back into the blazing building by neighbors and taken to a nearby home where friends are caring for her. The father is being held.

Find Five Bodies

Speeding to the fire, local fire companies found the building a mass of flames. They learned of the children immediately. It was an hour an a half, however, before the flames were well enough under control to permit the firemen to enter.

Battering their way through a barricaded closet door, the firemen stumbled over the bodies of the five children huddled together, dead from suffocation.

Three of the children were clasped in each others arms, while an elder sister was holding the baby, Joseph, age 2, to her breast.

The dead: Jose, 13; John, 8; Stephen, 6; Anna, 3; Joseph, 2.

Police believe that during the quarrel between husband and wife, either a light was smashed or an oil stove overturned.

Turks Execute Many Christians, Is Claim

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 17.—Turkish nationalists have begun the execution of Christians on a large scale, according to information received by the newspaper Hayatadana today. It stated that thirty-eight Christians have been hanged in one group by the Turks. Turkish officials explained that the Christians were prisoners and had tried to escape.

GERMANS IN CLASHES

DORTMUND, Jan. 17.—Clashes took place here today between German nationalists and communists. French occupying the city did not interfere.

Mary says she feels lots more like she owned Glendale than if she went traipsin' off to some other town to do her tradin'. When anyone praises Glendale she swells up as if she owned every stick and stone in the city.

TELL ENGAGEMENT AT 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson Announce Coming Marriage of Daughter

An informal social affair last night at the Charles L. Johnson home at 314 North Orange street was of unusual interest to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, their daughters and guests for it celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and also announced the engagement of Miss Alice Johnson to Thomas R. McKinley of Los Angeles.

More than 100 invitations were issued to Glendale, Los Angeles and eastern friends.

The Misses Alice and Mildred Johnson arranged the affair, using an elaborate decorative scheme in silver and pink in the various rooms of the home.

Artistic Decorations

Large bouquets of pink sweet peas were artistically placed about the rooms, while the chandelier lights were subdued by pale pink paper flower petals. From each chandelier hung a pink and silver wedding bell.

Of all the rooms the dining room was most beautifully decorated. The table, covered with a lovely heavy hand-made Cluny lace cover, had as a centerpiece a cunning bridal party, bride, groom and minister, standing beneath a miniature wedding bell.

From the chandelier above the table hung a pink and white bell while pink crepe paper streamers strung with smaller bells led to the corners of the table, where four tall lamp standards stood with the lights shaded by clever pink crepe paper floral shades.

Announce Engagement

A wreath of smilax and pink sweet peas circled the outer edge of the table.

Palms and other greenery were also used in decoration.

Small tables were arranged for games of five hundred, bridge and bunco, and late in the evening a bridal luncheon. The engagement announcement was made with the serving of the luncheon, and places were marked with large white lace doilies ruffled with pink crepe paper and

FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR WAR STAMPS

Postoffice Ready to Redeem Balance of 1918 Issue At Full Face Value

The demands made on the Glendale postoffice by the holders of 1918 War Savings Stamps, that became due and payable at the first of the year, were responsible for the temporary exhaustion of funds available for their redemption, but Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has now made arrangements with the postoffice department at Washington for a further supply of cash to redeem those stamps that are still in the hands of purchasers.

From January 1 until the funds at his command ran out Postmaster Jackson paid out $12,000, using the money from the postal receipts to redeem the stamps. It is estimated that two-thirds of the stamps held in Glendale by those who are registered in the local office have been cashed by their owners, and those who are still holding their stamps can now receive the full face value of $5 for each one by applying at the postoffice.

In addition to those who are registered as stamp owners at the postoffice, it is estimated that a great many more people who have moved into this city own some of the 1918 War Savings Stamps, and provision has been made to meet the requirements of the unregistered holders of the stamps.

Hughes Tells France Of America's Position

PARIS, Jan. 17.—France today published a note from Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes saying:

"America does not intend, either directly or indirectly, to determine the amount of reparations Germany should pay. Roland Boyden (American observer on the inter-allied reparations commission) has no instructions to present a plan."

Troops Mass, War Threatens Throughout Eastern Europe

RUSSIAN RED ARMY IS READY FOR INVASION; UPRISINGS AND REVOLT MENACE MANY NATIONS

American Money Being Sent to Lithuanians to Aid Memel Seizure, Charge In French Newspaper; Polish Attack Near, Belief

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 17.—War clouds gathered over eastern Europe today while France was busily engaged in military activities in Germany. The war menace threatens to involve France, Belgium, Germany, Poland, Lithuania and Russia. It was reported that Poland was mobilizing, but subsequently this was officially denied from Warsaw.

The French newspaper L'Information, in commenting upon eastern Europe war scare, said:

"Lithuania, by seizing the neutral district at Memel and the city of Memel itself, is menacing Baltic peace. Where is the money coming from to maintain a big standing army in the little country of Lithuania. The answer is from America, the land of idealism. Money is refused to France so long as she has a military budget. Now we know that charity money which has been sent into Lithuania has been converted into gunpowder and machine guns."

Communists in Central Europe, alarmed over the outlook for war, are conferring actively to take preventive measures.

Expect General Warfare

Russia has concentrated troops along the Polish frontier but Moscow denied any intention of hostility.

Poland has sent a gunboat to Memel and the Lithuanians are making formal protest against its presence there.

French officials admitted the prospect of a Polish attack against Lithuania, adding that they would not be surprised to see Russia invade Poland if there was a Polish-Lithuanian clash. Poland and Lithuania have been at loggerheads for two years, or ever since Polish troops invaded Lithuania and seized Vilna, the capital. This territory was never restored.

Appeals to France

Poland has appealed to France for military assistance in event of war. This appeal was considered by the cabinet this morning. Alarming reports from the Baltic states and the Balkans are causing intense anxiety on the part of French officials.

Italy, becoming alarmed over the war scare in Southeastern Europe, is giving indications that she will withdraw her support of French occupation on the Ruhr and will line up with Great Britain. France is more interested in the situation at Memel than in the Balkans. French officials say that seizure of Memel by Lithuania—a nation friendly to Russia—is equivalent to building a bridge directly from Russia to Germany. It virtually establishes an alliance between the two powers.

Uprisings Threaten

The Lithuanians attacked allied and German military police impartially when they moved on Memel. Lithuanian officials indicated that their ultimate object was an attack against the Polish forces defending the Dantzig-Polish corridor.

The "little entente"—Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania—is unable to carry out its military agreements to come to the aid of Poland because of the menacing situation in the Balkans. Roumania is menaced from two sides. Hungarian irregulars are making raids over the Roumanian frontier, while there are indications that Bulgaria and Turkey are

ITALY NEAR BREAK WITH FRANCE ON RUHR INVASION

Officials Disapprove of Way Indemnity Guarantees Are Being Imposed

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
For International News Service

ROME, Jan. 17.—Alarmed by the steady advance of the French army into Germany and the possibility that it may lead to war, Italy today advised France that she does not approve of the manner in which the French are imposing indemnity guarantees.

Italian officials disapprove of the action of the French government in giving General De Gouette, commander in chief of the French army of occupation, authority to take any measures he desires.

Italy is withdrawing its moral support of French seizure of the Ruhr, meanwhile lining up with the viewpoint of America and Great Britain.

Officials are resentful because Italy's advice was not asked by France after the Italians had promised to send mining engineers to the Ruhr to co-operate with the French and Belgians in getting maximum production from the German coal mines for delivery to the allies.

State Wins Victory In Mob Murder Case

BASTROP, La., Jan. 17.—The state of Louisiana won a smashing legal victory today in its efforts to solve the "hooded mob" murders of Morehouse parish when Judge Fred Odom, presiding at the open hearing, announced all "prospective defendants" would be compelled to take the stand if called as witnesses. He ruled, however, they would not be forced to answer questions tending to indict themselves in the crime.

Fire in Baltimore Wholesale District

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17.—Fire early today destroyed the large clothing warehouse at Hopkins' place, and, for a time, threatened the entire wholesale district. The loss was put at $496,000. Rock Hill school was virtually destroyed by fire. The loss was estimated at $200,000.

GERMAN MINE OWNERS MUST FURNISH FUEL OR GO TO PRISON

Hostility of Magnates Causes French Forces to Take Up Slogan 'On to Berlin!'

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service.

ESSEN, Jan. 17.—Threat of prison sentences confronted the Ruhr mine owners today unless they resumed delivery of coal to the allies. Representatives of the colliery properties said that they would obey Berlin rather than the French army officers.

Both German officials and French officers ridiculed with laughter a rumor circulated outside of Germany that an army of 25,000 Germany military policemen had been mobilized north of Dortmund.

German officials said that no steps whatsoever had been taken to oppose the French advance with force of arms. They pointed out that Germany had been deprived of all war supplies and that it would be futile to attempt to oppose the French advance without weapons.

"On to Berlin!" is the cry of French officers, in view of the persistent hostility of the coal and from magnates.

French officers said that they would have no hesitation in arresting the mine owners and that they believed this action would be followed by orders from Paris to continue the advance in the direction of the German capital.

PROTEST WAR BY GENERAL STRIKE

Communists Call on Workers To Show Strength of Pacifism in Europe

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—Declaring that French invasion of the Ruhr endangers Europe with another war, Clara Zetkin, German communist; Karl Radek, of the Russian soviet government, and J. T. W. Newbold, communist member of the British parliament, today called upon workers in London, Vienna, Amsterdam and other European capitals to arrange a general strike in protest.

"The news has already come of Polish mobilization," said a communist statement issued here. "Poland is making preparations for war. It is evident that France will set her vassals upon Germany. The dangers are not confined wholly to a Franco-German conflict. War would spread into Eastern Europe."

It was suggested that the strike begin at the end of this month and "cover all Europe to show the strength of pacific labor."

A communist strike conference will be held here Sunday.

French Prepare to Occupy More Towns

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 17. — French troops at Dortmund are preparing to advance fifteen miles further to Hamm if the German mine owners in the Ruhr refuse to resume the delivery of reparations coal, said a despatch from Dusseldorf today.

It is understood that the forward movement of the French will be resumed within thirty-six hours if the Germans persist in their refusal to turn over coal and coke to the allies.

May Ask U. S. Help In German Problem

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Co-operation and intervention by the United States and Great Britain to settle the German reparations problem and to prevent French occupation of the Rhineland from leading to another war, may be proposed by Premier A. Bonar Law, if a favorable opportunity comes, it was learned from official sources this afternoon.

Germans Refuse to Attend Allied Meet

PARIS, Jan. 17.—German representatives, evidently acting on instructions from Berlin, refused today to appear before the inter-allied reparations commission to give information regarding Germany's failure to make reparations deliveries. The meeting set for today was postponed until Friday.

concluding an anti-Roumanian alliance.

Uprisings are threatened in both Roumania and Jugo-Slavia. Russians in Bessarabia and Hungarians in Transylvania (two districts annexed by Roumania after the war) are threatening revolt.

Slovenes and Croats in Jugo-Slavia are restive under the restrictive measures of the Belgrade government and are secretly planning trouble.

All Mass Troops

All the little countries in Southeastern Europe have massed troops along their borders. Even impoverished Greece, penniless, famine-stricken and shaken by revolution, is actively preparing for war in the Balkans. Greece wants to re-take from Turkey all of Eastern Thrace which was detached from Greece and awarded to Turkey when the Mudania armistice was drawn and signed.

Communist leaders in Russia are watching the European situation carefully. Leon Trotzky, commissar for war, is reported to be with the red army in the field, ready to issue orders at a minute's notice.

GARBAGE HAULING CONTRACT ASKED FROM TRUSTEES

Request of Pasadena Men Is Referred to Attorney by City Trustees

L. Kazarianl and A. Harntian of Pasadena would like to enter into a three-year contract with the city of Eagle Rock to remove garbage, tin cans, etc., at regular intervals, and signified their intentions by making an application to the city officials at the last regular meeting.

The matter was held in abeyance for the present, owing to the fact that the city has one contract in force, and is not getting the best of results.

L. Kazarianl, who presented the subject to the board, said that he was amply able to provide security as he had a 40-acre vineyard at Fresno. He had a splendid recommendation from the president of the Chamber of Commerce, as well.

Referred to Attorney

The city officials seemed loath to enter a contract at the time with Mr. Kazarianl, especially for a long-time period. Trustee Taylor suggested that they make it for a period of one year, if it appeared the other man was unable to fulfill his contract, but the applicant stated he could not take the contract for that length of time without extra inducement. He had offered to do the work for $250 a month for the first year; $300 for the second and $350 for the third. He opined it would be worth $200 a month if he took it for one year.

The matter was finally referred to the city attorney.

Glendale Man Buys Lot in Eagle Rock

J. A. May, recently of Glendale, has purchased a residence lot in Eagle Rock and is preparing to make it his home. He is living at the present time at 618 East Colorado boulevard.

Mr. May was a resident of Redondo for eighteen years and later spent fourteen years at Coronado. For the past two years his headquarters have been in Glendale and he has used that city as a base while seeking the most desirable place to locate.

Mr. May is a druggist by profession, but will open up some other kind of a business in Eagle Rock within the next few weeks.

Clear Camp Owner Of Nuisance Charge

Dr. Carl Phinney, health officer of Eagle Rock, has handed in a report to the city officials exonerating the manager of the auto camp in Eagle Rock of maintaining a nuisance in the burning of refuse and trash in the early morning hours.

In his report, which was given verbally to the board of trustees Monday night, Dr. Phinney stated that sanitary conditions were in very good shape at the camp and that the alleged nuisance was created by others than those at the camp.

The investigation was ordered after the trustees had received two communications from a resident of that section of the city.

ASKS TRUSTEES TO IMPROVE STREET IN EAGLE ROCK

Owner of Property Claims To Have Spent $1500 In Opening Road

Mrs. E. E. Hamilton of College View appeared before the Board of Trustees of Eagle Rock at the Monday night meeting and asked that certain street improvement be made in that section between Adams and Sycamore avenues on the west. She stated that this was one of the oldest streets in Eagle Rock and, while the curbing and walks were in, nothing had been done about improving the street. The petitioner stated she had expended $1500 in opening the road and placing such improvements as existed and thought it was time the city should do something.

Mrs. Hamilton said the road was largely used and at the present time had a granite surface. She owned all but eighty feet of the frontage north and south.

No Funds Available

Mayor Osborne explained that the city was powerless to appropriate funds for the purpose at the time, as the property was not included in an improvement district, but the matter would be looked into at once.

Upon motion of Trustee Mattison the matter was referred to City Engineer Jordan and taken under advisement by the board.

Mrs. Hamilton stated that this particular tract was one of the first to be graded in the city, the work having been done sixteen years ago, but for some reason it had been overlooked since.

PETITION TABLED BY EAGLE ROCK TRUSTEE BOARD

Motion to Abandon Project For Easement Defeated By Trustees' Vote

The petition for an easement through the Linden Way section, a subject of discussion and contention by various factions in that neighborhood, was laid on the table indefinitely at the Monday night meeting of the Eagle Rock Board of Trustees.

The petitions calling for the improvement was presented to the former board of trustees early last summer. It was later brought before the present board in a new petition and has occupied both the attention of the city officials and the residents interested for some weeks. Hearing for protests was published recently, the date being the meeting of last week. At that time a strong delegation appeared to protest and the matter was carried over until the meeting Monday evening.

Motion Defeated

In order to dispose of the matter for all time, Trustee Mattison moved that the project be abandoned. The motion was seconded by Trustee Bergsvick, but on roll call vote defeated, Mattison and Bergsvick voting in favor, Osborne, Taylor and Curtis registering against the motion.

As the proposition stands, say members of the council, the subject can be revived at some future time if it is deemed necessary.

SPECIAL ELECTION CALLED TO VOTE ON ANNEXATION

Date for Eagle Rock Voting Will Be Settled at Future Council Meeting

City Attorney Rollin L. McNitt has been instructed by the city officials of Eagle Rock to draft an ordinance calling for an election on the question of consolidation of Eagle Rock with Los Angeles. This action was taken at the Monday evening session after City Clerk Martsolf had made a report on the checking of names on the 11 petitions submitted. The time for holding the election was not decided at the last meeting of the board.

Mr. Martsolf's report was in substance as follows: Total number of registered voters in the five precincts comprising Eagle Rock City, 2467; total signatures to the petitions, 851; total signatures required, 617; petitions not certified, one. Signatures not certified, fifteen. Signatures not registered, ninety-eight. Duplicate signatures, three. Signatures not regular, four. Registered and moved, five. Total void signatures, 125. Signatures regular, 726.

SEEK TO CHANGE CLASSIFICATION OF THREE LOTS

Would Amend Ordinance to Place Territory Inside Business District

Two petitions were presented to the Eagle Rock trustees Monday night asking that certain territory now embraced by B zone be placed in the C zone. The petitions were similar in context, one being presented by Emil F. Swanson and the other by Attorney Harry W. Chase, representing the Glendale & Montrose Railway Co. The property referred to in the petitions is the rear end of lots 45, 46 and 47 of tract 237, the lots over which the spur track leaves Colorado boulevard near the corner of Central.

The object of the petitions was to place the territory specified in the business zone, and the petitioners asked that Ordinance 194 be amended to permit of the change.

Would Hear Others

After discussion, the matter was taken under advisement and will come up later, the trustees taking the position that all property owners affected should be given an opportunity to be heard on the question. Mayor Osborne explained that Ordinance 194 provided that the trustees might require fifty-one per cent of the property owners contiguous to sign the petitions and that those owning property on the opposite side of the street were entitled to be heard.

Attorney Chase explained that the portions of the lots named were inside lots, consequently he was doubtful if these requirements were necessary.

On motion of Trustee Taylor the petitions were filed for future action.

Occidental Notes

William Meade Orr, formerly of Pittsburg, Pa., now a resident of southern California, has just been elected a trustee of Occidental college. He is now retired, but has been an active business man as general manager of the Barrett Roof company, manufacturers of "Tarvia." He is president of the San Gabriel Country club.

An order has just been adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county authorizing and instructing the county forester to furnish such trees as may be available in the county nursery for planting the grounds of Occidental college campus. The forester was also authorized to superintend the planting of these trees. Forester Stuart J. Flintham has already visited Occidental personally and started the plans with President R. D. Bird for the planting of such trees as will make the campus as beautiful as possible. This great improvement to Occidental will be a wonderful asset to the city of Eagle Rock.

Coach Joseph A. Pipal, of Occidental, has received an invitation for the Oxy relay team to participate in the Drake Relay Carnival held under the auspices of the Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa. Coach Pipal's men won the Carnival last year and are anxious to repeat this year. The event will take place March 17.

L. Thurston Harshman, Occidental's Debating Manager, will represent Occidental in the second annual Business Oratorical Contest, held under the auspices of Hamburger's Department store, January 19, in the Egan auditorium. Mr. Harshman is among the foremost college orators in southern California and should place near the top in the coming contest.

tions taken from "Old Kingdom Proverbs" from the National Library in Paris, a book found in Thebes and written 2100 B. C. by King Ptah Hotep, 110 years old.

Talks On Egypt

Other numbers on the program were talks on Egypt by Mesdames W. F. Nash, W. B. Bean, H. W. Yarick, H. C. Wilcox and C. W. Houston.

Mrs. Nash spoke of "Prehistoric Egypt," Mrs. Bean of "The Pyramids," Mrs. Yarick of "The Middle and New Kingdoms," Mrs. Wilcox of "Alexandria," and Mrs. Houston of her trip through Egypt several years ago.

Each presented information in a most interesting manner, some of the speakers illustrating their thoughts with pictures and relics.

Mrs. Houston's talk was particularly interesting because she read from a diary she kept while traveling. She brought a mummy's hand for exhibition, and parts of an Egyptian woman's costume.

Business Meeting

During the early part of the afternoon Mrs. J. E. Sargent, section curator, spoke of the recent business meeting of the section. She told of the discussion of ways and means to raise the $185 to pay for the dishes for the new club home. The section has pledged itself to furnish this money and the amount must now be raised.

Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth is heading the committee in charge of this drive. She is assisted by Mesdames Eugene Gilliland, Frank Brown, G. H. Rowe and W. H. Verity. One of the first benefit affairs will be a cooked food sale in connection with the auction to be given by the ways and means committee of the club.

The women of the section are also anticipating a musical benefit to be given soon at the home of Mrs. E. D. Cleophas.

The next meeting of the section will be with Mrs. Frank E. Webb of 303 North Louise street, when the program will be on wit and humor.

As an anniversary gift to their parents Misses Johnson presented them with a set of silver in the Century pattern. They also received a large number of other silver gifts from the guests and friends in the east.

TELLS COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN'S DUTY

Glendale C. of C. Secretary Addresses Santa Monica Chamber at Banquet

The first meeting of the committees of the reorganized Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce was held last night at the beach city, with James M. Rhoades, secretary, and E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary, of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce as the principal speakers of the evening.

Following a banquet and the reading of the reports of the committees, Mr. Rhoades spoke on the relations that Chamber of Commerce committees bear to the body as a whole, stressing the importance of the proper functioning of such committees under the leadership of active chairmen, who realize the necessity of reporting at frequent intervals to the parent body, giving a full statement of the work that has been accomplished and of the plans that are in process of being carried out.

Duties of Citizens

Mr. Sanders dealt with the relations and the duties of the citizens of a community to the Chamber of Commerce, and showed that definite accomplishment for the good of the community is only possible when the citizens co-operate with a live organization that has the interests of the community at heart.

The question that should be asked by every citizen is not What will the organization do for me? declared Mr. Sanders, but, what can I do for the organization? and a proper sense of one's obligation to his community will lead a man to associate himself with such an organization and to use every means in his power to make it efficient, he added.

The program for 1923, as outlined by the Santa Monica committees, embraces practically every branch of civic activity and presages a busy year's work for every member of the organization.

Wallace Reid Will Start Work in July

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Unless an unforeseen relapse occurs, Wallace Reid, film idol, now recovering from a four months' illness at a Hollywood sanitarium, will return to work before the camera on July 2, it was learned today. Reid, it is said, will resum his work with the Famous Players-Lasky corporation.

Although the star's improvement is slow, he is now on the road to recovery, his physicians say, and is permitted to leave his bed for short periods.

It was intimated there is a possibility that he may be able to return to work before July, but the July date was set as a sure time when he will be fully recovered.

It must be fine to be an oil man in Mexico and have nothing to do but be held for ransom.

THEATRES

The Glendale

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" shows at the Glendale Theatre the last times today. This phenomenally successful film has all the elements that go to make a good photoplay and a thorough performance.

First of all, the homely narrative of simple New England life has a strong appeal and lends a quaint flavor to the production. Secondly, the amazingly strong cast compels attention and warrants the success of the piece. Among the players are Lon Chaney, Elmo Lincoln, Hank Mann, Blanche Sweet, June Elvidge, Louise Fazenda and Zazu Pitts. Thirdly, the story is a screen version of the monumental novel by Charles Felton Pidgin, a story that ranks as one of the few big narratives of New England life.

The T. D. & L.

For action and interest, "Ebb Tide," the Paramount feature now playing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, has few superiors. The thrilling tale of Robert Louis Stephenson and Lloyd Osbourne has been translated into terms of the screen with marked success by Director George Melford.

The famous characters are skillfully portrayed and the many scenes of suspense and thrills are of the variety that make the audience gasp not only with awe but with admiration. The photography is artistic, and in everyl other respect "Ebb Tide" in a cinematographic gem.

Even the cast is a phenomenal one, containing such stars as Lila Lee, Jacqueline Logan, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton, Noah Beery and George Fawcett.

BENJAMIN'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

"Almost any man who tried to run his business the way he finances his home, without a definite plan, would end in bankruptcy."—Roger Babson.

How pleased Benjamin Franklin must be if he looks down from some other sphere and sees his birthday party.

Maybe you don't know he was having a birthday party. He is. For the whole week.

In other words this is Thrift Week, and this particular week is chosen because it is Benjamin Franklin's birthday.

And Both Were Right

It is hard to imagine anything that would please him more, isn't it? That is, if he still feels the same way about thrift as the most important of earthly virtues. I can imagine Franklin and Robert Louis Stevenson arguing it out. I can hear Stevenson saying that a man who would go without the first part of his dinner for the sake of an uncertain dessert is rather a fool, and Franklin answering with some wise saw about thrift. (Strangely enough each seemed to have had the right of it for his own case, for Franklin stayed for the dessert and Stevenson didn't.) And then I can imagine Benjamin calling his friend's attention to the fact that the United States is holding a birthday party for him.

Seriously, if there is any virtue that the American people need to have their attention forcibly called to it certainly is thrift.

The prodigality of the land we live in has made us a prodigal people. The land gives freely and we spend freely. Money to a typical American is something to spend, not to save.

And Spend the Difference

Doubtless you have noticed the typically American advertising of the car that is as much an American institution as our Mary. "Buy a flivver and spend the difference." Not by any chance save the difference. That wouldn't reach an American half so much as the suggestion of what he might buy with the difference. An economy to most of us is something we do without so that we can have money enough for some other extravagance.

Therefore it will be a comfort to the American mind to know that Thrift Week is not wholly an effort to get him to put money in the bank. It is of wider gauge than that—a move to help him get more out of his money. As its organizers well express it the purpose of Thrift Week is

"Think Straight and Act Wisely"

"To stimulate the individual to think straight and act wisely in regard to personal money matters in the realm of earning, spending, saving, investing and giving."

It has a ten point economic creed. Maybe you will like to see how you stand on these ten points. I could check eight. I hope to check the other two next year.

Work and earn.
Make budget.
Record expenditures
Have a bank account.
Carry life insurance.
Own you own home.
Make a will.
Invest in safe securities.
Pay bills promptly.
Share with others.

OFFICIALS TELL BONUS PROGRESS

Over $10,000 Now on Hand for Glendale-Montrose Railway Project

The collection of the $25,000 bonus promised the Glendale & Montrose railway when street cars are operating on South Glendale avenue was the principal topic of discussion yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn by the Glendale Advancement Association.

Secretary Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway reported that between $10,000 and $11,000 has been collected He said that the pledges had been examined very carefully and that most of them seemed to be good. He stated, however, that new subscriptions would be welcome. He remarked that the railroad company had been ready for some time to order the materials and would do so as soon as it received definite assurance that the bonus would be ready when the work is completed.

Few Refuse Payment

In regard to the collection of the smaller accounts, Mrs. W. E. Mercer, of 624 East Broadway, reported the collection of $684, definite promises that $405 would be brought in shortly and a balance of $224 to be collected in Glendale.

"We have been doing very well, we think, so far," asserted C. E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street, who has been doing some of the collecting. "It looks as though we would get Glendale accounts cleaned up this coming week. There have been a few who have refused to pay but very few."

R. M. Gaddis of 402 East Dryden street is now making arrangements for the collection of the larger accounts, according to an announcement made at the meeting.

Solicit Land Owners

Dr. Jessie Russell of 208 South Brand boulevard inquired if it would not be a good plan to solicit for additional subscriptions from new property owners on South Glendale avenue

President C. W. Ingledue of 632 East Broadway, presided at the meeting. Besides those mentioned already, the following were present: Mrs. John Addison, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Mrs. A. C. Andressen, W. C. Page, Charles F. Stuart, K. C. Sipple, J. R. Todd, S. C. Kinch, R. M. Brown, C. C. Coghlin, J. F. Chandler, Charles Fischer, Roy King, H. L. Finlay, P. J. Hayselden, Fred F. McIntyre, A. BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

ASTRIN GENTS

We talk so much about cold creams and emollients for the complexion, that we are all rather apt to overlook one exceedingly important thing in maintaining or in gaining a young, fine-grained skin. That is, the value of astringents.

Now, an astringent is anything which will draw up, or make smaller. Applied to beauty treatments, it means something that will draw up the lax muscles, or the enlarged or too relaxed pores of the skin. If you have a face that is badly lined, with cheeks that droop and flesh that goes in folds, you can coat it with an astringent that will, for the moment at least, pull back all this flesh into firmness and iron flat the lines. Of course, when the astringent is removed, the old condition will return but if it's a good astringent, its use will help you, for good astringents are also stimulating.

The white of egg plays an important part in most astringents, I think, it one of the best there is, simply diluted with water. Complexions vary, but this way of using egg I have found excellent. When you break and pour out an egg, take the largest half of the shell, which will have a big drop of white left in, and fill it with cold water. Rub the finger around the inside, to mix the egg and water. Use this all over your face and neck —just this and nothing more. Rub it in, let it stay on 20 minutes, wash off with warm water and rub in a little cold cream—all astringents should be followed by a cream massage as all are drying.

Of course the skin should be clean when this is applied, otherwise the dirt will be forced still further into the pores. This can be done every day or so.

D. A. B.:—To make the breasts firm after they have become flabby from drying up the milk, dash cold water over them every day and use light friction from a coarse towel. The vibrator will not be any use for this purpose.

Pat C.: — To remove blackheads, open the pores well by either steaming or applying hot, wet cloths. Massage into the skin a cleansing cream and remove this after it has dissolved all of the soil. Close the pores by dashing very cold water over the skin or rub it with a small piece of ice.

Try the White of an Egg

Tomorrow—A Misunderstood Type.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase .....

COUNCIL TABLE

Q. Will you give a good formula for a reliable furniture polish?

A. An excellent furniture polish is made by mixing together equal portions of boiled linseed oil, vinegar and methylated spirits.

Q. I am in need of several new couch and floor pillows, but do not feel that I can afford the expense of feathers or down. Can you suggest an inexpensive filling for pillows that will be in constant use?

A. Take cotton batting and cut it up in little squares, place these in a dripping pan and heat in the oven. One should be careful that the heat is not enough to scorch the batting. The squares will fluff up to twice their original size, and be very soft and light.

Q. Can you suggest something that will remove spots from fireirons?

A. Rusty steel fireirons and the like may be cleaned by rubbing well with sweet oil, enough of the oil being allowed to remain on the article to soak in for some time.

Q. I have some faded curtains. Do you think I can dye them successfully at home?

A. Tie-dyeing helps wonderfully and economically in the brightening of curtains and can be done successfully by the most inexperienced.

Q. Do you suggest dyeing faded rugs? I have not had much success with dyeing faded dress materials, coats, etc., but have a perfectly good rug that is too badly faded to use in my newly-fitted-up bed room and if it is possible to dye it successfully it would save the price of a new one.

A. I do not think it would be wise to undertake dyeing your rug at home. A reliable firm will do it successfully for a nominal sum. Be sure not to select a color that will not "cover" the original color. Soft dark green, brown or taupe are all good "safe" colors.

Q. What is the complementary color of blue? I have a blue desk set and wish to select candles to accentuate it.

A. Combining two of the primary colors gives the complementary color of the remaining primary. In your case, orange combining red and yellow, is the complementary color of blue. Orange candles on your desk would make a very attractive set.

Q. Can you suggest something to put on my dining room table between meals? So many of my friends and acquaintances are using taffeta silk, draped around some bowl, plant and the like, but I prefer something different.

A. I am glad to note what you say about the taffeta silk draped dining room tables, and you desire to have something different. We women are so often accused of following in the beaten path—seldom showing any originality. I am happy to have one more to register in my original class. Since you sign yourself "a young housewife," I imagine you have one of the newer shapes of dining room tables, oblong, and for this shaped table I would suggest an oblong shaped doily, lace or linen (all lace would be beautiful) with a pretty bowl of fruit in center and a candlestick placed on either side of it.

Q. I have just moved into a new flat and have no place for a serving table; would a tea wagon be correct if placed in front of a window with silver tea service placed on it?

A. The tea wagon is frequently used in the dining room in place of serving table and it would be perfectly correct to place it where you suggest. I consider the tea wagon of much greater value in a modest home or flat than the serving table.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:

"I am a 14-year-old girl, underweight, nervous and constipated. I suffer severely at my menstruation period. I am very nervous. Sometimes I believe it is because I never go any place for fun. There are no parties around here. —Constant Reader."

Dear Little Constant Reader: It is too bad there are no parties around where you live and that you don't have much fun. There is one consolation in being in a place where there are no parties. You can have loads of time for reading the most beautiful stories. Have you read George Eliot's The Mill on the Floss?

I am positive that if you gain in weight you won't be so nervous and that you will probably find much more occasion for fun, too. Send for our instructions on gaining and also the article on the Atonic Abdominal Wall. Do the exercises described in that and include the exercise of walking like an animal on your hands and feet for a few minutes two or three times a day. This exercise with the exercises on the atonic abdominal wall will help keep your organs in place and undoubtedly lessen your painful menstruation. You can take hot baths during the period. They will help you. Write me again.

J. C.—You want to know if there is a successful and harmless way of getting the flesh or fat, you don't know which it is, off the nose and would those applications that are advertised interfere with the breathing. You did not state your age nor sex, but I guess that you are quite a young man from your handwriting and the way your letter is worded. You did not say either whether you were fat all over. If you are, then reducing your weight would reduce the fat on your nose.

The shape and character of the nose, unfortunately at times, is inherited, but considerable can be done when the bones are sott to mold them. Massage might help. I am not familiar with the appliance that you speak of. If it does not press too firmly and does not interfere with the breathing, and if it were worn regularly, it might shape the nose if you were young enough.

Anxious Reader—What foods contain calories? All foods contain calories, my dear 16-year-old girl. Calories are simply units of measure of the fuel or energy value of foods and they are also the units of heat. Foods are fattening in proportion to the number of calories they contain. An ounce of pure fat contains 255 calories. An ounce of protein or carbohydrate, with all the water dried out of it, has 120 calories. Thus you see that fat has 2 1-4 times the fattening value. You say you missed the course in the paper on reduction. You can have it by sending for it as per directions at the top of this column.

FOREST AVENUE MEETING'S TOPIC

City Council Will Consider Widening of Street at Special Session

The widening and improvement of Forest avenue will be the topic of discussion tonight in the council chamber at the city hall at a special meeting which will be attended by members of the City Council and representatives of all interested improvement associations.

Southern Glendale held a mass meeting not long ago at which objection was made to the grammar school board of education donating twelve feet to this widening unless Harry White, owner of the property across the street, should donate a similar width.

The improvement of Forest avenue, it is believed by those who have studied traffic conditions, would provide an excellent connection between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard.

Start Roundup of Irish Irregulars

DUBLIN, Jan. 17. — A thousand Free State troops, supported with machine guns and artillery, began an encircling movement today to round up the republican irregulars hiding in the Wicklow hills.

These irregulars have been darting forth, making raids and then returning to their secret retreats. They looted the town of Blessington.

Suicide Sequel to Rejected Proposal

OAKLAND, Jan. 17.—Police investigating the suicide of Harold Campbell, 19, son of a wealthy Medford, Ore., cattleman, and a former student at Oregon Agricultural college, said that his act was due to the rejection of his marriage proposals by a pretty 18-year-old University of California co-ed. The girl told the police in response to numerous proposals she had told Campbell they were both too young to wed and urged him to take it less seriously.

Campbell shot himself in a West Oakland lodging house.

Even in summer, the open fireplace has its uses in the tobacco-chewing belt.

Raps Expenditures Of British Govt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. — While the British debt commission is seeking easier terms for the funding of Great Britain's war debt to the United States, the British are maintaining the most expensive navy in the world and a very large army, and have found no difficulty in financing enormous oil purchases throughout the world, and in finding money to lend to foreign countries where it is thought helpful to their trade and commerce, Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, charged in the senate.

Suicide Attempt Is Probed by Police

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. — Police were investigating today mysterious circumstances surrounding a probable successful attempt at suicide by Mrs. Helen Spencer, 27, said to be the wife of a wealthy Los Angeles business man. Mrs. Spencer was reported dying at the San Francisco hospital from the effects of poison tablets swallowed in the lobby of the Plaza hotel last night after a man registering as Roland V. Oliver, according to police, refused to see her.

Police investigating the case learned Mrs. Spencer, with a trained nurse in attendance, had been registered at another hotel since January 12. At her hotel it was understood she was suffering from a nervous breakdown and for that reason seldom left her room.

She was taken to the Central Emergency hospital and her condition was so serious that she was early today transferred to the San Francisco hospital. It was said recovery was virtually impossible and that death might come at any time.

Oliver, police said, declined to discuss the case and told hotel attaches he did not know the woman.

Dodge to Quit as State Bank Supt.

SACRAMEITO, Jan. 17.—The resignation of Jonathan Dodge, state bank superintendent, effective February 1, has been accepted by Governor Richardson, a statement from the governor's office said.

"Dodge called upon Governor Richardson about the middle of last month and asked if he would be continued in office and the governor told him frankly he would not be retained," said the statement.

"Governor Richardson, while in the treasurer's office, made a careful study of banking and financial matters and it is understood that he disagrees with many of the policies of the present superintendent, and thinks a more conservative policy should be pursued."

Minority's Report Scores Daugherty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Attorney General Daugherty is "guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors" on the basis of his evasive answers to the charges brought against him by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, it was declared in a minority report submitted to the house by Representative Thomas, Democrat, Kentucky, a member of the judiciary committee, which heard the impeachment charges.

Turn Down Plan to Cut Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Following a short meeting of the American-British debt commission Stanley Baldwin, head of the British delegation, cabled Premier A. Bonar Law in London for additional instructions.

It was understood the British proposal to reduce the interest rate on the $5,000,000,000 British debt to three per cent had proved unacceptable to the United States.

Commodore Garfield A. Wood of the Detroit Yacht club, owner of "Miss America I," "Miss Detroit VI" and other champion speed boats, has left Glendale with his family and the party are on their way back to Detroit.

While in Glendale Commodore and Mrs. Wood and their son, Gar Jr., were guests at the home of Mrs. Wood's father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Fellows, of 719 North Maryland avenue.

The commodore takes back home with him trophies for six consecutive victories of his boats against local power craft, in the recent races at San Pedro.

Upon his arrival in Detroit, Commodore Wood will supervise the shipping of a duplicate of the world's champion power cruiser, "Gar, Jr., Flyer," to George A. Pope, wealthy lumber man of San Francisco. Pope will use the craft on Lake Tahoe.

While her husband is attending to this and other business affairs, Mrs. Wood will proceed on to their home at Miami, Fla., with her son. The commodore will join his family there later.

CANADIAN OUTDOOR SPEED KING AND HOLDER OF ALMOST EVERY OTHER SKATING TITLE AT ONE TIME OR ANOTHER
JOE IS N'T THE MOST GRACEFUL SKAT ER IN CAPTIVITY BUT HE SURE SKIMS ALONG

WOOD COWAN
JOE CARROL HIS MANAGER TELLS US

Joe Moore is about the best guy in the land when it comes to skates.

Of course we are leaving the bootlegger out. That kind of a skate championship is something else again. Joe is the king speeder among the ice blade wielders, while the fight is still on over the title among the wood alcohol tipsters. It is only a matter of time before they will be eliminated one by one and we can all send flowers to the old soak just after his last skate.

Joe, by the way, has won every medal an amateur can win on ice at one time or another. He is going great this season and bids fair to lower some of his old marks.

Moore went right into the den of the skating demons and came back with the Canadian outdoor title. The boys up north have always had things pretty much their own way on the ice, so this was quite a feat to perform.

This young fellow skates with his head, so we are informed by his manager, J. Carrol. But don't take that literally. Moore is a student and has figured out the most efficient strokes and the best way to execute them. He has skating down to a science. Different sized rinks require longer or shorter strokes as the case may be. He has the indoor game so nicely doped out that Joe has things about his own way in the rink events.

In a recent two-mile race at Ice Palace in New York City, Moore lapped the whole field.

Joe was born in the same house in which Joe Lynch, the bantamweight champion, first saw the light of day. Weighing 145 and standing 5 ft. 6, Moore appears a little short for a skater. But he not only can skate to perfection, but as a dancer he's a gal-winner. Plays baseball and basketball. While he never smokes or drinks, he can't keep away from pastry, and Carrol has a tough time keeping Joe in the pink of condition because of his appetite for cream puffs and cookies.

Coast League Needs Some Real Assistance

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17. — A Moses to lead the way out of the wilderness is the real need of the Pacific Coast League today.

The anti-draft resolution — passed by votes of four clubs and William H. McCarthy, president — has left the league in a merry muddle.

Acceptance of major league players by the coast league other than by direct purchase is forbidden by the resolution. On the other hand, the majors have forbidden their sixteen clubs to sell outright to the minors but require all players sent on deals or otherwise must be subject to the draft.

The only loophole for clubs that require a few players to round out their teams for next year is the possibility that the big league mandate does not apply to players promised in deals completed last fall.

Bud Ridley Again Winner of Bout

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Bud Ridley tacked up another four round victory for himself today following his engagement last night at the Vernon arena with Jack Norman, who on a day's notice substituted for Danny Kramer, who was taken suddenly ill.

Though Norman did not come up to the class of Ridley, he showed the fans that he has some "real stuff" throughout the entire fight.

Babe Ruth Quickly Recovers, Is Report

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Babe Ruth, famous slugger, was so far recovered from the operation performed on his left hand last night that he went for an early morning walk today, none the worse for the ordeal. The big hitter entered St. Vincent's hospital yesterday to have a troublesome boil lanced, according to Mrs. Ruth.

"It was nothing serious," she declared.

Coffee Shortage Is Not Serious, Claim

Considerable attention is being given at the present time to coffee on account of rumors that have been circulated which would lead the public to believe that if they did not lay in a large supply they would soon be without this necessary article of diet, or they would have to pay exorbitant prices to get it.

From most reliable and conservative sources it is learned that most of this "bullish" talk comes from sources that are selfishly interested in seeing a heavy speculative buying movement started in coffee. While it is a fact that a temporary shortage of green coffee exists in the United States, there is no serious shortage of coffee in producing countries. If everyone will continue to supply themselves with coffee in a normal way, the law of supply and demand will ultimately relieve the slightly aggravated condition that now exists, it is declared.

Roasters may be obliged for a time to get more money for their products on account of being forced to pay higher prices for their supplies, but the advances will be less and slower to come if speculation on the part of retailers and consumers is not indulged in, it is declared.

Sun's Forces Ready To Attack Canton

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17.—Advices from Canton declared troops loyal to Chen Chiung Ming were prepared for a last stand against the forces of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, now reported surrounding the city. It was believed here today to be only a question of time until the Sun forces are in complete control of Canton. Definite confirmation has not reached here of reports that Chen had fled when the navy deserted him and hoisted Dr. Sun's flag.

Wounds Policeman, Commits Suicide

SEATTLE, Jan. 17.—Patrolman A. B. Luntsford is at the point of death in the city hospital as the result of being shot down by George H. Gilman, 36, a sailor, who then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide in the heart of the business district.

Luntsford was about to take the sailor into custody after he had been pointed out by a youth who declared he had been offered $1000 to drive an automobile for Gilman.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

All accounts of the Floyd Johnson and Bill Brennan match are agreed that Brennan is a has been and that Johnson is not a comer even though he is a comparative youngster. Under the circumstances nothing hopeful, as far as the heavyweight situation is concerned, may be derived as the result of this rather innocuous battle.

Anent the present draft war between the major and minor leagues, in which the Pacific Coast league through its president, William H. McCarthy, is taking the lead: McCarthy's plan is for the Coast league, the American Association, the International league, the three class AA organizations and the Western and Three Eye leagues, who also do not accept the draft, to line up solidly and say to the majors that they will not take players from the majors if they are subject to the draft. Then, any other league that wanted to take similar action could do likewise. It would then be up to the majors to figure out some plan to dispose of their surplus talent while still keeping a string on the men.

President McCarthy of the Pacific Coast baseball league says the majors cheated last year in the number of players they had out on optional agreements, and he expects them to cheat again this year, only on a bigger scale. The minors have no control over that. Judge Landis is the man who is supposed to check up the majors and see that they send out only eight players per club. Many of them paid no attention to that ruling last year.

M. H. Sexton, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, "deplores" the stand of President McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league, which he has taken "out of meeting," and says that proper place for discussions of the character is in regularly called meetings. For this, he says he will be glad to call a meeting if requested. Kind of Sexton, to be sure, but what we would like to know is, how could he refuse calling such a meeting it it were asked for in the regular way?

Duffy Lewis, manager of the Salt Lake team of the Pacific Coast league, is one of the busiest managers on the circuit at the present time, and that is saying considerable, for all of them are tripping about so that the well known grass has little time to grow under their justly celebrated feet.

HARRY WILLS IS GOING BACK, SAID

Not Nearly So Good as He Was Year Ago, States Sports Authority

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Whether it is just a matter of Dempsey propaganda or a legitimate piece of inside information, it is nevertheless common gossip that Harry Wills is not nearly the man he was a year and a half ago. Further than that, Harry is said to be fully aware of the fact.

This, if true, would account for the silence, deep and abiding, that pervades the Wills camp on the once absorbing topic of a bout with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the black and white universe. It may be that Wills realizes his chance has slipped away from him with the passing years.

His trouble, they say, is not lack of speed. He is still as fast as ever he was, it is alleged, but cannot hit with the same old bone-crushing force. His hands, fragile as a wine glass, will not stand the strain.

"Wills doesn't dare let fly with his punches the way he did several years ago," declared a prominent matchmaker recently. "A couple of rounds of hard punching would reduce his hands to dishrags. He never had hands strong enough to punch with indiscriminately, but when he was fighting Sam Langford he saved them a lot by using his speed and boxing ability to advantage.

"Wills cannot do that now because his hands are even weaker than they were then. He knows he must finish his man early, and at the same time he realizes that he cannot afford to swing with everything he has. In consequence, he relies on intimidating his opponent and afterward finishing him with body blows, which are not as destructive to the hands as a punch to the head."

Whether this be fact or fancy deponent knoweth not, but we can attest to the fact that upon the occasion of his last public appearance Harry Wills looked very much like a man who could not or would not punch. The bout in question lasted almost twelve rounds, in spite of the fact that Clem Johnson, party of the second part, was pretty much of a joke.

Punches Hurt Hands

Quite a bit of Wills' success has been due to his ability to hook his left hand under the shoulder of an opponent and drag the latter forward into a right uppercut to the body. The result usually has been rather embarrassing to the victim.

Usually the latter has lent himself unwittingly to this program by clinching as soon as he got to close quarters—Johnson, ably coached by someone, declining to be a party to such a transaction.

When Wills meets Dempsey, if ever, he will experience even more difficulty with this trick. Dempsey is stronger, wiser and certainly more slippery than Johnson. His gliding, swaying movements as he comes in will break Wills' hold nine times out of ten. And on the occasion of the tenth Wills may wish that the break had been just as clean and definite.

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Eddie Graney, noted referee of world championship fights of other years, is one man who believes that the ring inactivity of Jack Dempsey is going to be the champion's downfall. Graney points out that history of the ring shows that lack of competition has been the undoing of many champions. He thinks Dempsey is the heavyweight champion because he has no serious competition and even a lack of any competition. He regards Dempsey's last fight with Carpentier as a joke.

"Why, Carpentier had only two fights in four or five years before he met Dempsey," explained Graney, "and both of his opponents—Joe Beckett and Battling Levinsky—were mediocre fighters. No man can fight at his best if he does not have more than three contests in five years. Jack Dempsey figured to beat Carpentier without exerting himself.

"John L. Sullivan was out of the ring three years before he fought Corbett, from 1889 to 1892, and he was defeated," continued Graney. Corbett fought exactly sixteen rounds between September 7, 1892 and March 17, 1897, the day that Bob Fitzsimmons knocked him out.

"Fitzsimmons did not fight for two years and three months after he won the title, and two years and three months after Jeffries knocked him out. Jim Jeffries retired in 1905 and five years later came back to fight Jack Johnson. Everyone knows the result.

"Johnson led a fast life after beating Jeffries, engaged in only two fights—one with Jim Flynn and the other with Frank Moran—and in 1915 he went down to defeat before Jess Willard at Cuba.

"Willard dodged every challenger except Moran after he beat Johnson, until he fought Dempsey, and the Moran match was a 10-round affair with no decision. He was a punching bag for Dempsey at Toledo in 1919.

"This is 1923 and Dempsey has fought three opponents since he won the title from Willard—Miske, whom he stopped in three rounds; Brennan stopped in 12 rounds and Carpentier stopped in four rounds. That makes a total of nineteen rounds in four years, less about six months.

"Dempsey has an advantage over the other champions. Their conquerors had contention when they were climbing the ladder. A promising heavyweight nowadays cannot get matches with good men because there are no good men. In the old days there were many good fighters and the young chap had a chance to develop, to gain experience, by actual fighting."

Graney believes that the first half way good man who comes along and meets Dempsey will be the next world champion. "History of inaction of previous champions will positively repeat itself in Dempsey's case," says the famous referee who made the "Tuxedos" famous in the ring.

Tall and Thin, He Hits 'Em Hard, Eh?

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 17.—A freak fighter has forged to the front in Southern California fistic circles. He is "Skinny" Pierce, Old Town high school boy, and has won his last eight bouts.

Pierce weighs in at 128 pounds, but stands 6 feet and one inch in height and has an abnormal reach. He has developed a hefty punch in either hand. Ring critics predict great things for the boy. He meets Jake Stahl, crack lightweight, in the main go at Dreamland tonight.

CITIZENS BLOCK SABOTAGE PLOTS

Roundup of Strikers Foils Scheme to Halt Traffic On Eastern Road

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 17.—The "round up" of strikers and sympathizers alleged to be implicated in a plot to destroy bridges and thus force the shutdown of the M. & N. A. railroad, continued today by the "citizens' committee."

The city is quiet as hundreds of citizens from Searcy and Carroll counties, who yesterday aided the committee in rounding up those implicated in the alleged sabotage plot, returned to their homes.

The home guards are preserving order, patrolling the city to prevent any further outbreaks such as occurred yesterday when E. C. Gregor was hanged to a railroad trestle and George W. O'Neal was taken from his bed and horsewhipped for resisting the committee.

Evidence Gathered

The committee was gathering more names of those implicated in confessions of others. Several strikers are said by the committee to be implicated in these confessions. Incriminating evidence, which the committee plans to lay before the grand jury was obtained from union headquarters of the rail workers.

One company of state militia, ordered here by Governor McRae, was withheld as information was sent from here they would not be needed. The enraged citizens here and along the entire route of the road are determined train traffic shall continue without interference.

Twin Sisters Are Wed to 2 Brothers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 17.—The unusual double marriage of twin sisters, 16 years of age, to brothers took place here at the home of the brides' parents. Miss Adaline Booth became the bride of Bassil Bright, 19, and Miss Angeline Booth was married to James Lott Bright, 27. The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Booth, of West Pike street, Point Comfort, and the bridegrooms are sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Bright, of Northview, both being connected with local coal companies.

Baby Ate Mother's Trolley Car Ticket

YORKVILLE, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Passengers on local interurban cars are supposed to surrender zone checks, given them when they pay their fares, upon leaving a car.

A woman, with a baby, could not produce her zone check. Conductor August Tieufel asked her where the check was. She told him the baby chewed it up and swallowed it.

A trace of blue on the baby's mouth convinced the conductor, and he permitted the woman to leave the car without paying an additional fare.

Resignations Must Be Made In Accordance With Rules, Is Decision

In considering several resignations from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, that were presented at the regular weekly meeting yesterday, the directors adopted a resolution declaring that no future resignations would be accepted unless the member resigning had complied with the by-laws governing his association with the organization.

Many of those who sever their connection with the Chamber of Commerce, it was stated, overlook the settlement of their dues that may still be owing to the Chamber of Commerce, and no resignations will be accepted in future until the arrears shall have been cleared up.

The committee that has been appointed to call on those members whose resignations were presented at a former meeting, was made permanent under the name of resignation committee, and all resignations in future will be referred to this committee, which will see that the contracts signed by members of the Chamber of Commerce have been carried out.

Urge Highway Work

Secretary J. M. Rhoades submitted to the directors a copy of a resolution that had been forwarded by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, asking for the co-operation of the local chamber in an effort to secure the completion of the three transcontinental highways through this state. Special emphasis was laid, in the resolution, on the stretch of road between El Centro and Yuma, Arizona, and it was stated that pressure would be brought to bear in every possible quarter to have this part of the highway put in a condition that would permit automobile travel over it in greater comfort than is now possible. The assistance of chambers of commerce and civic bodies in Southern California and Arizona is to be sought to bring about the completion of this stretch of road.

President Jesse E. Smith instructed the secretary to prepare a similar resolution and forward it to the Los Angeles Chamber of commerce to be used in the campaign to have the road built.

Hear Pageant Plan

Secretary Rhoades presented to the directors the proposal made by H. L. Leavitt, to stage a ten-day Pageant of Progress here during next May. Under the terms proposed by Mr. Leavitt, the Chamber of Commerce would furnish a brass band of at least 20 pieces, police protection, light, licenses, and would also appoint a treasurer, who would receive all money taken in during the pageant and who would, at the close of the pageant, divide the gross receipts fifty-fifty with the promoter. The latter would furnish all publicity and would arrange for the various concessions.

The matter was referred to the committee on publicity and advertising, and a report will be made to the directors at the next weekly meeting.

Glendale Well Known

The financial report of the Chamber of Commerce for the last year was ordered incorporated in the annual report which is to be printed and furnished to each member of the organization. A number of other routine matters were taken up for disposal, including the admission of five new members.

A. R. Eastman, who recently returned from a trip east, related to the directors his views on business conditions in those parts of the middle west where he had been, declaring that, while the cities seemed to be prosperous, the farming sections, especially in Missouri, were in a bad way. Glendale, said Mr. Eastman, was well known in every section where he visited, and many inquiries were made of him regarding conditions here.

Electric Locomotive Gets Grade Tests

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—As a forerunner of future electrification of the heavily graded main line of the Pennsylvania railroad over the Alleghenies, one of the largest electric locomotives for freight service in the world is being tested out by the road on the stiff grades between Philadelphia and Paoli, Pa.

The locomotive was built in the company's own shops to the design of their engineers and develops a tractive effort of 87,200 pounds, which makes it necessary to use it only as a "pusher." If it pulled a train it would jerk the drawbar couplings out of the cars with its tremendous strength.

An idea of its power can be gained from the fact that it frequently takes the place of two steam pusher engines. Its trials have not been without their humorous features, due to the immense tractive effort. Recently, while pushing a freight train near Narberth, Pa., the steam locomotive at the head of the train stopped for a danger signal. The big electric engine, however, did not receive the "stop" indication in time, with the result that three freight cars were crushed like accordions before its breaks took hold. On other occasions it has squeezed cars out of trains on sharp curves when the steam engine at the front of the train was not pulling hard enough.

The locomotive operates on a single phase current of 11,000 volts, 25 cycles, through an overhead trolley. It has four motors, developing a total of 4,800 horsepower. There are six driving axles, with 72-inch wheels, and two speeds at which it operates—10 and 20 miles an hour. The huge cab mounted above the running gear is 72½ feet long and ten feet wide.

Community spirit is increased when you do your buying in Glendale.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

First of Progressives
Governor 'Tailormade'
Weller Presents Bill
L. A. Deserves New Deal

By Gil A. Cowan

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 17.—"Reactionary government." That's bunk. "Progressives." That's bunk! It's all bunk, this propaganda designed to embarrass Governor Friend William Richardson's program for economy and efficiency.

Right now he is meeting with success at every step, it would appear, and every time he steps on some of the old Stephens' machine crowd they become "reactionary" to "progressivism."

The governor, himself, called their hand at the editors' banquet; so did George Radcliffe, member of the state board of control. For they were two of the original progressives in first electing Hiram Johnson. Al McCabe and his latter-day saints of "progressivism" were unknown in the days when the Southern Pacific machine was smashed.

The real progressives in state government today are those who are not taking orders from the San Francisco gang, those who are called "reactionary" in the Hearst papers, which will soon begin to find merit in Mr. Richardson and join with other publications in supporting an economy program, for the governor's sincerity is going to win!

To illustrate just how much he values a dollar, Friend Richardson's plaint to newspapermen the day before inauguration was, "I'm losing money already. Had to buy my first tailormade suit." On the morning of his inauguration he drove his own old National touring car to the capitol and climbed out in a new overcoat. "How goes it, Governor?" one of the boys asked. "This overcoat cost me $60. Wife made me buy it."

And when three directors of the Pomona Valley-Los Angeles fair went to him the other day for an appropriation, he frankly told them: "You'll have a helluva time getting it, but go see the board of control."

In the senate Friday only fifteen bills were introduced, a new low number for the opening of any session, and those which called for appropriations were met with chilly laughs. Believe me, the costs of government are going to be cut to the core, regardless of the political consequences.

Also, every state employe who fought Richardson, or holds out in the matter of efficiency with economy, is going to be kicked out. There is absolutely no question about that little detail, for the governor is not building a political machine. He and George Squires made the campaign, enlisted the aid of the country newspapers, and obtained the support of only those who were earnest in the cause. They won. Now even George has declined three jobs because they pay too much! And the governor expects to save sufficient from his salary to do him the rest of his days!

Frank C. Weller and Allen G. Mitchell, assemblymen from Glendale and Pomona, Lineberger's congressional district, are again introducing the bill which will prevent a person from running on more than one party ticket. John Robert White last session got this needed legislation through the assembly, but it died in senate committee.

Reapportionment, that issue so vital to Southern California, and Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena, Long Beach and Glendale in particular, shows every evidence of waiting for federation redivision of the state.

It is admitted by all that Los Angeles deserves, according to population, more representation. It is only right that it should have a new deal. The legislature is sworn to support the constitution and that able document covers the situation by ordering reapportionment every ten years, but—

It is not politically expedient, according to the majority of members, who come from places elsewhere than the south, to divide the balance of the state into larger districts in order to accommodate Los Angeles. They are bowed in the neck about it and the great city and county of the south has only one alternative.

Briefly, it is this: Lay plans now to elect a southern man governor. Elect a southern man lieutenant-governor. Elect hard-boiled fighting representatives from each southern district. Finance campaigns of country candidates who will support reapportionment and four years from now victory can be obtained.

Otherwise Los Angeles must bow to San Francisco and northern domination or take steps to divide the state, which has never seemed advisable.

A large audence, which filled every seat which could possibly be placed in the dining-room and crowded all doorways, last night enjoyed the joint recital of Henri LaBonte, tenor, and Homer Simmons, pianist, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mr. LaBonte laughingly remarked that he had been requested to arrange a "high brow" program. He said that he was very much pleased at the way it was received by the local audience. A number of the songs were written by his personal friends.

The purpose of the coming social affair will be that of raising funds for the organization as a whole, in addition to the thirteen individual associations, in the city school system. Explains Reasons For Racial Hatred

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 17.—The most serious menace confronting the white race is "oppression psychosis," according to Professor A. Miller, Oberlin college sociologist, who addressed a local audience. Professor Miller defined "oppression psychosis" as a mental attitude developed by a race, or class, toward another race or class by which it has been dominated.

Pogroms, racial clashes, religious upheavals and other demonstrations of class hatred are manifestations of "oppression pyschosis," Professor Miller said. He declared that it is the root of most of the seething hatred, social, racial and otherwise, which has transformed the world into something like a slumbering volcano which would display violent activity at the slightest provocation.

A disposition to unite in opposition to white domination is being created in the colored races by "oppression pyschosis," professor Miller stated.

BENEFIT PROGRAM TO AID ORPHANS

Harry Girard Takes Charge of Event; Ralphs Grocery Stores Assist, Too

Harry Girard will be the director of a benefit program to be given at the Philharmonic auditorium the Thursday afternoon of January 25, at 2:30 o'clock, for the orphan boys of the McKinley home.

The Ralphs Grocery company has arranged a booth in each of its stores and tickets are now on sale generally. With each ticket purchased, a one-pound box of quality candy is given away. The sale will continue all week, and through the generosity of the Ralphs brothers, it is hoped that a fine advance sale will be registered.

Buying for Happiness

W. A. Russell, manager of the Glendale store, states that the pound boxes of candy he is giving away with tickets sold contain a full sixteen ounces of the highest grade assorted chocolate creams carried by the system.

"Dollars," he states," never purchase more than when they purchase happiness for some little orphan boy. And, in addition, the purchaser, in this instance, is getting as a bonus not only a fine box of candy but a really splendid afternoon's entertainment at the Philharmonic auditorium, with the assurance of a popular Glendalian's name behind it—Harry Girard, who has turned out so many fine entertainments."

If the salvation of the world depends upon any one nation, it certainly isn't assassination.

The latter had but raised his eyebrows a trifle at the time, but later he smiled more than was usual with him. Something seemed to please him immensely.

Beside him at the head of the column rode Bridge and Miguel. Behind them trailed the six, smarthy little troopers—the picked men upon whom Pesita could depend.

They had reached a point where the trail passes through a narrow dry arroyo which the waters of the rainy season had cut deep into the soft, powdery soil. Upon either bank grew cacti and mesquite, forming a sheltering screen behind which a regiment might have hidden. The place was ideal for an ambuscade.

"Here, Senor Capitan," whispered Miguel, as they neared the entrance to the trap.

A low hill shut off from their view all but the head of the cut, and it also hid them from the sight of any possible enemy which might have been lurking in wait for them farther down the arroyo.

At Miguel's words Byrne wheeled his horse to the right away from the trail which led through the bottom of the waterway and around the base of the hill, or rather in that direction, for he had scarce deviated from the direct way before one of the troopers spurred to his side, calling out in Spanish that he was upon the wrong trail.

"Wot's this guy chewin' about?" asked Billy, turning to Miguel.

"He says you must keep to the arroyo, Senor Capitan," explained the Mexican.

"Tell him to back into his stall," was Byrne's laconic rejoinder, as he pushed his mount forward to pass the brigand.

The soldier was voluble in his objections. Again he reined in front of Billy, and by this time his five fellows had spurred forward to block the way.

"This is the wrong trail," they cried. "Come this other way, Capitan. Pesita has so ordered it."

Catching the drift of their remarks, Billy waved them to one side.

"I'm bossin' this picnic," he announced. "Get out o' the way, an' be quick about it if you don't want to be hurted."

Again he rode forward. Again the troopers interposed their mounts, and this time their leader cocked his carbine. His attitude was menacing. Billy was close to him. Their ponies were shoulder to shoulder, that of the bandit almost broadside of the trail.

Now Billy Byrne was more than passing well acquainted with many of the fundamental principles of sudden brawls. It is safe to say that he had never heard of Van Bibber; but he knew, as well as Van Bibber knew, that it is well to hit first.

Without a word and without warning he struck, leaning forward with all the weight of his body behind his blow, and catching the man full beneath the chin he lifted him as neatly from his saddle as though a battering ram had struck him.

Simultaneously Bridge and Miguel drew revolvers from their shirts and as Billy wheeled his pony toward the remaining five they opened fire upon them.

The battle was short and sweet. One almost escaped but Miguel, who proved to be an excellent revolver shot, brought him down at a hundred yards. He then, with utter disrespect for the rules of civilized warfare, dispatched those who were not already dead.

"We must let none return to carry false tales to Pesita," he explained.

Even Billy Byrne winced at the ruthlessness of the coldblooded murders; but he realized the necessity which confronted them though he could not have brought himself to do the things which the Mexican did with such sang-froid and even evident enjoyment.

"Now for the others!" cried Miguel, when he had assured himself that each of the six were really quite dead.

Spurring after him Billy and Bridge ran their horses over the rough ground at the base of the little hill, and then parallel to the arroyo for a matter of a hundred yards, where they espied two Indians, carbines in hand, standing in evident consternation because of the unexpected fusillade of shots which they had just heard and which they were unable to account for.

At the sight of the three the sharpshooters dropped behind cover and fired. Billy's horse stumbled at the first report, caught himself, reared high upon his hind legs and then toppled over, dead.

His rider, throwing himself to one side, scrambled to his feet and fired twice at the partially concealed men. Miguel and Bridge rode in rapidly to close quarters, firing as they came. One of the two men Pesita had sent to assassinate his "guests" dropped his gun, clutched at his breast, screamed, and sank behind a clump of mesquite. The other turned and leaped over the edge of the bank into the arroyo, rolling and tumbling to the bottom in a cloud of dry dust.

As he rose to his feet and started on a run up the bed of the dry stream, dodging a zig-zag course from one bit of scant cover to another Billy Byrne stepped to the edge of the washout and threw his carbine to his shoulder. His face was flushed, his eyes sparkled, a smile lighted his regular features.

"This is the life!" he cried, and pulled the trigger.

The man beneath him, running for his life like a frightened jackrabbit, sprawled forward upon his face, made a single effort to rise and then slumped down limply, forever.

Miguel and Bridge, dismounted now, came to Byrne's side. The Mexican was grinning broadly.

"The captain is one grand fighter," he said. "How my dear general would admire such a man as a captain. Doubtless he would make him a colonel. Come with me Senor Capitan and your fortune is made."

PARIS, Jan. 17.—War has been declared upon the fashion pirates who copy Rue de la Paix models and sell them at cheap rates to foreign buyers. The police are out with the designers rounding up wholesale dressmakers who are carrying on their illegal trade. In some workshops costumes were found hidden behind mirrors and in secret panels of the walls. On examination they proved to be exact copies of exclusive Paris creations.

Dolls as practice babies are being used in the girls' schools of Paris, where the care of children and infants is included in the curriculum. They are large and realistic ones, and with them the girls are taught how to handle baby, rock and carry it, wash and clothe it according to the laws of hygiene. Clothes are made and washed and ironed and everything kept in perfect order by the little future mothers of French babies.

To give or not to give—that is the question many Parisians turn over in their minds when passing the numerous beggars on the bridges and street corners of old Paris. According to La Presse one need not feel the pangs of conscience, for the mendicants are very often beggars of fortune. A Swiss, who for some time played an accordion in the streets, was recently arrested with 93 francs in his pocket, the earnings for the day which equals about the fourth of a month's salary for an average clerk or stenographer. This, it seems, is no exceptional case. The street musician who cannot make 100 francs (about $10) a day is not worth much. One must know the streets and the best hours. One street at the dinner hour is said to yield $1 an hour, and it is not difficult to find nine others like it.

A department of French literature has just been established in the American library in Paris. Up to this time there has been but a small collection of books in the French language. The year 1924 will see a great international exhibition in the heart of the French capital on a large area comprising about sixty acres stretching from the Grand Palais to the Invalides. Decorative art and modern industry will constitute the exhibition.

Seven times and still going strong is the record of a certain Mr. Dennis of Athenny, Ireland, who has just celebrated his seventh marriage at the age of 93 years. He is the father of forty-eight children and counts 236 grandchildren and 444 great grandchildren among his treasures. Mr. Dennis is in excellent health and knows the names and exact ages of each of his offspring. Curious thing, however, these last days he has been calling his latest wife by the names of his former better-halves.

The needle maniac is still at work among the crowds in Paris shops and subways. Every day brings new victims, but so far the "piqueur" himself has not been found. They thought they had caught him the other morning when a young girl jumped from her seat in the subway declaring that the culprit was the middle-aged benevolent-looking gentleman at her side. Mystified and alarmed the good man searched his pockets and produced a pair of compasses. He was an architect, he said, and had a bad habit of carrying the article about with him. The points, of course, had protruded through his overcoat, and voila! the awkward situation.

The eminent Dr. Paul believes the whole thing to be "a psychic epidemic," a case of generalized auto-suggestion. "It is something extraordinary," he says, "that among all the hundreds of persons who have been 'piqued' not one has been able to lay his hands on the 'piquer.'"

ROTARY GAPS

A rotary gap usually consists of a wheel with projecting points, with a stationary electrode on each side of the wheel. Such an arrangement is shown in the illustration and is, perhaps, the simplest form of what is known as a nonsynchronous spark gap. However, there is a multiplicity of such gaps and much ingenuity has been shown in their construction. In the example shown, the spark jumps from one stationary electrode to one of the moving points (all of which are electrically connected), flows across the wheel, and then, leaping from the corresponding point on the other side of the wheel, passes the gap between wheel and electrode to the second stationary electrode. The number of sparks per second is determined by the speed of the wheel, which is motor driven, or by the number of points or studs, as they are usually termed. A rheostat is generally introduced into the circuit operating the motor, in order to control its speed and thus adjust the gap to any pitch or tone desired. As above mentioned, there are many forms of rotary gaps. However, their principles are similar and the results obtained more or less uniform according to their design and adjustment. Rotary gaps are, however, sharply defined into groups, nonsynchronous, as described above, and synchronous, described in the next article. The latter is a much more efficient gap.

WALL OR ROOF INSULATOR

Newcomers into the radio experimental field are often perplexed as to the best method to bring their antenna lead into the house. This should be done in the most direct, yet convenient way. It may be accomplished either through the roof or through a wall or window as circumstances permit. The lead must be perfectly insulated and the illustrated insulator can be used for either of the above leadins. It has a rain test of 25,000 volts; dry test 55,000 volts. This more than meets the usual experimental requirements.

President Refuses To Accept Islands

WASHINGTON, Jan. (7.—President Harding is vigorously opposed to the proposition of America accepting either the British or French West Indies in payment for the war debts of those nations, it was announced at the White House.

The administration will oppose in congress bills that have been introduced requesting the government to open negotiations along this line.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WHITE OWL

Once upon a time there was a great white owl who lived in the woods not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. The owl was the color of snow—except his eyes, which were yellow and big and round. And the white owl had tufts of feathers on his head, making him seem to own a pair of ears, almost as large as those of the gentleman himself.

The white owl was always hungry for frogs, mice and rabbits, and more than once he had tried to catch Bully and Bawly No-Tail, the frog boys. The owl had also tried to catch Jollie and Jillie Longtail, the mice children.

But, most of all, the white owl wanted to catch Uncle Wiggily.

Now this white owl, in spite of his big, round, yellow eyes, could not see well in the daytime—no owls can. So the white owl used to flit silently about at night, looking for some animal on whom he could pounce.

One night the owl flew from his nest in the hollow tree and sailed over the dark forest. The owl could see very well in the dark night, and soon he saw a Fox and Wolf slinking along under the trees. But the Fox and Wolf were too large for the owl to try to eat.

"Now I'll get you!" hooted the Owl.

"I think we'll catch him this time," said the Fox to the Wolf.

"Whoo! Whoo! Tu-whoo!" hooted the owl.

"I was speaking of Uncle Wiggily," said the Fox, thinking the white bird had asked him who he was talking about. "Uncle Wiggily," the rabbit, you know."

"Yes, I know," hooted the owl. "But you can't catch him, you are not wise enough. Leave it to me. We owls are the wisest birds in the world."

"I know you look so," said the Wolf, "but I don't believe you can catch Uncle Wiggily."

"Yes, I can," hooted the white owl. "You were speaking of him just now," he went on to the Fox. "Tell me where that rabbit is, and I'll get him. And when I do I'll give you two chaps some nibbles from his ears."

This sounded good to the Fox and Wolf who, though they had tried for many days to catch the bunny uncle, had not been able.

"Uncle Wiggily just hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow," said the Fox. "We saw him go, and we were going to wait for him to come back. When he does we were going to catch him."

"I'll do that," said the white owl. "Where did he go?"

"Nurse Jane sent him to borrow something at the home of Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady," said the Fox.

"No matter, I shall catch him in my sharp claws, anyhow," boasted the white owl. "You go to sleep and soon I'll catch the rabbit."

The Fox and Wolf cuddled up on the dried leaves of the forest, while the white owl flew to perch in a tree just outside the house of Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady. Soon out came the rabbit, carrying something large, round and shiny.

"I wonder what he has?" thought the white owl. "No matter, I can catch him just the same. I'll fly after him, stick my sharp claws in his back and carry him off to my friends, the Fox and Wolf."

Whistling a jolly tune and twinkling his pink nose, Uncle Wiggily hopped away from the piggie house. But he had not gone far before he heard a swishing of wings in the air behind him and over his head. Looking up and back, Uncle Wiggily saw, in the moonlight, the white owl!

"Whoo! Tu-whoo!" hooted the owl. "Now I'll get you." Down he swooped.

Uncle Wiggily started to hop but that would have done him little good, for the owl could swoop and fly down much more quickly than the bunny could hop. But, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily crouched down and pulled over himself the bright, shiny thing he had carried from Mrs. Twistytail's house.

"Clatter! Clatter! Bang" went the beak and the claws of the owl. "Oh, what have I struck!" hooted the savage bird, as he made a dash for the bunny.

"A tin dish pan!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, who was safely under it. "With this big dish pan over me, Mr. Owl, you can't get me!" And the owl could not, though he dashed with all his might at the bottom of the pan.

Back through the woods flew the owl.

"Did you get the rabbit?" asked the Fox and Wolf.

"No, he fooled me, wise as I am," hooted the owl. "I'll have to go to the five and ten-cent store for my supper," and away he flew as the Fox and Wolf slunk off in the darkness.

Uncle Wiggily hopped safely home to his bungalow with the dish pan for Nurse Jane, and told her his adventure. And how the muskrat lady laughed at the white owl! But if the rag doll doesn't laugh at the puppy dog when he tries to go to sleep in the cat's cradle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cold birds.

Parker, of Louisiana, in his efforts to enforce the law in connection with the Morehouse parish murders of Watt Daniel and Thomas F. Richards.

Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this arch-fiend, commonly called "nerve inflammation." The first warning is usually a sharp, stabbing pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which troubles often end in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pains or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poison. Just apply Tysmol over the part that hurts, and in 3 to 5 minutes the pain should be gone.

Tysmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Price $1 at Roberts & Echols. Tysmol Company, Mfg. Chemists, 400 Sutter Street, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Meet on Thursday

The northeast group of the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Olmstead at 301 North Belmont street, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, announces Mrs. Ed M. Lee, one of the leaders of the group. Sewing for the Methodist hospital will be provided.

Stocks, Markets

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The stock market was active and strong in the late dealings today, most of the active issues recovering from 1 to 2 points from the low levels. Stocks like Baldwin and Studebaker more than recovered their early losses. U. S. Steel rallied over 1 point. Packard Motors advanced over 2 points to 14.

Government bonds unchanged; railroad and other bonds strong.

Stock sales were 776,300 shares; bonds $13,926,000.

Canton Yields to Republican Troops

SHANGHAI, Jan. 17.—Republican troops led by Sun Yat Sen, president of the republic of South China, entered Canton today. The city is quiet. Canton was the capital of the republic of South China.

BOULEVARD ASSN. MEETING CALLED

Important Program for Tonight's Session Scheduled For Consideration

An important meeting of the Brand Boulevard Improvement Association is called for 8 o'clock tonight, by President Mattison B. Jones, at the offices of the Charles B. Guthrie company, 110 West Broadway.

Several matters of prime significance are slated for consideration, among them the project of opening Burchett street through to San Fernando road on the west and Glendale avenue on the east.

The matter of lowering the tracks on North Brand boulevard from Arden avenue to Doran street, as the next unit in this project, will also be considered. The work of a similar nature now in progress on South Brand boulevard from Colorado street south, it will be remembered, was initiated by the Brand Boulevard Improvement Association something over a year and a half ago.

Two or three important North Brand building projects, furthermore, are scheduled for tonight's meeting.

Owing to the number of important matters before the association, it is urged by Secretary Charles B. Guthrie that the meeting be well attended.

JOINS STAFF OF SHUCK MUSIC CO.

W. P. Funk, Saxophone Expert, Made Department Head in Local Store

W. P. Funk, one of Glendale's foremost saxophonists, has been added to the staff of the Shuck Music company, 211-213 North Brand boulevard.

Mr. Funk will be in charge of the saxophone department, and will be at the store every day from 1 until 5 o'clock. A free course of lessons, under Mr. Funk's direction, will be given to every purchase of a "Holton" saxophone.

These instruments offer the very best for a moderate price, it is stated by Fred V. Shuck, proprietor of the store. "A better sax for the same money" is the slogan Mr. Shuck has adopted to describe these really wonderful instruments.

Those interested are urged to visit the Shuck Music company, where they will be given a demonstration of the Holton saxophone, which can be obtained on liberal terms, with a small payment down.

Gives $400 to Club For Building Fund

When Mrs. Daniel Campbell announced at a recent meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club that the club was ready to receive contributions of any amount from 5 cents up toward the building fund for the new club home at Central avenue and Lexington drive, little did she expect that before the next club meeting she would have the pleasure as club president to accept a gift of $400.

The donor is Walter R. Simons, president of the Simons Brick company of Los Angeles. It was through his cousin Mrs. John T. Crampton, member of the executive board of the club, that Mr. Simons became interested in the activities of the club women to raise money for their building fund. He is particularly interested in the club house furnishing and while he made no stipulation as to just what his gift was to be used for it will probably be applied to the furnishing fund.

DENIAL BY POLAND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Reports from Copenhagen that Poland was mobilizing its forces and had begun conscripting citizens for military service were emphatically denied at the Polish legation here today.

OLD TIME SONGS AGAIN IN FAVOR

Eddie Leonard, Recall Him? Well, He Is Staging Melody Contest

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Do you remember the days when "Ida" or "Those Big Brown Boola Eyes" were sung so successfully by the minstrel man?

Well, Eddie Leonard, prince of the end men, is holding over for his third week at a local playhouse staging one of his "contests" for amateurs which in years past have developed so many successful comedians.

From the gallery one grandmother arose and sang "Ida" in a way that made Mr Leonard happy. And when she said she remembered Eddie singing "Boola Eyes," he popped the question:

"How old are you, anyhow? I haven't sung that piece for twenty years."

"I have a boy as big as you," said the singer, who, under the inspiration of minstrelsy, brought forth salvos of applause.

Remember This, Al?

In introducing other amateurs Leonard recounted the fact that more than a score of years ago in a similar contest held at the Bijou theatre on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, a boy who now has an income of $38,000 a week, sang his first song in public. It was none other than Al Jolson.

"John Greaves was the owner of the theatre," reminisced Leonard, all of which recalled to the writer's mind of a day five years ago during the war when he was investigating a reported robbery of the French air mission in the Arcade building at the national capital.

Interrogating one of the watchmen, the question was asked: "Your name, and occupation prior to taking up this work?"

"John Greaves, owner of the Bijou theatre, now a burlesque house, but once the leading musical theatre of Washington."

Wonder if Al or Eddie ever think of old John, now that they have reached fame and fortune, while he is eking out a miserable existence?

Like Those Old Songs

"Love Tales of Hoffman" is being presented in San Francisco this week by a resident light opera stock company. More than 13,000 people asked to hear the old songs sung again.

From the number of revivals of yesterday's musical hits it would seem that "jazz" has run its course. "The Merry Widdow" opened last night to an enthusiastic audience, it being accorded a great reception all along the coast by the younger generation. Wonder who will revive "Floradora?"

Bright Lights Grow Dim

It seems strange to see Tait's, once the brightest of the white lights of San Francisco, vying with Coffee Dan's for popularity as a "coffee house."

But gone are the crowds milling around, and if you will motor out into the country back of Oakland you will find them at the roadhouses where the company of wine and women are covertly enjoyed as of old.

Far in advance of the dry agents' raids comes the bandit crew which Saturday night stripped 300 guests of one establishment of their cash and jewels.

Wonder what the "losers" thought when their names and losses were published in the papers next day?

What mankind needs just now is a little less talk about evolution and a little more of it.

G. B. WOODBERRY GIVES VIEWS ON EDUCATION AND TAXATION

lature in response to an insistent and urgent demand on the part of the tax paying public to place a reasonable restriction on all public expenditures, apponited a commission to investigate and report to the succeeding Legislature.

Educators Object

This State Tax Commission, after careful study, recommended to the Legislature of 1917 Assembly Bill No. 1013, known as the "Tax Levy Limitation Law." This law was passed almost unanimously and signed by the governor, becoming a law of the state; but it did not meet with the approval of the educators of the state, who invoked the referendum against the measure and the law was characterized by the county superintendent of schools of Los Angeles county as crude, involved, voluminous, unscientific and dangerous. The teachers were sent out with petitions and instructed not to argue the question but simply to obtain ten signatures each, which was done, and the referendum was completed.

The law was held up before being given a trial and the will of the people of the state of California, as expressed through the Legislature, nullified by the campaign put out by the political educators at the election held November 5, 1918.

Relating to this blocking of the desire of the people to obtain relief from the rapidly increasing taxes, the following statements were made: Clyde L. Seavey of the State Board of Control stated on July 6, 1917, "A movement has been started by certain school officials to bring the referendum against Assembly Bill 1013 known as the Tax Limitation Law passed at the last session.

Unrestricted Power

"Statements as to their objections forced the belief that the real and fundamental trouble is that they wish to be unrestricted and untrammeled in their power to obtain and expend school funds —to destroy the whole effect of an act which was passed almost unanimously by the Legislature, has the endorsement of leading tax men, and has been backed in this state by all who are working toward economy and efficiency in the expenditure of public money."

The Los Angeles Times editorially commented as follows: "The league of taxpayers asserts that the law is the best measure that has been passed by a California Legislature in recent years.

"In Los Angeles County at least teachers did not hesitate to make use of the school children of primary grades to circulate their literature attacking the law.

"They caused thousands of circulars to be printed and gave one to each pupil to take home to the parents or guardians—to the average citizen it must be surprising that the school teachers should sound the first protest against the first intelligent effort made in the last six years to eliminate the rapidly increasing cost of government in California. In no other state is the cost of county government so high—the present bill was drawn by the State Tax Commission after an exhaustive study covering nearly two years of county government in California and other states—let the referendum be successful and the last barrier to higher taxation, extravagance and waste will be taken down—if the referendum is successful, a tax law which is the best ever passed in this state will be wiped out—the success of the referendum would be a great victory for graft and extravagance in county government:—a stop must be put to the appalling growth of the tax-eating monster in referendum-ridden, initiative-burdened and experiment-racked California or the state will be ruined."

Increase in Taxes

The increase in the tax burdens of the people of the state since the educators defeated the law conclusively show the soundness and truth of the statements of the Times and Mr. Seavey. The taxpayers of the State of California seem to have little to say regarding the collection and distribution of public money and the educators seem to have lost all sense of proportion in the amount of funds which they deem necessary in promoting what they term the education of the children and the taxpayer who ventures to voice a protest incurs the probability of being considered an enemy of the schools.

The state of California has the unenviable distinction of having a double standard in the matter of election laws; one standard for an election for creating bonded indebtedness for municipalities and counties and another for the same purposes in the schools. Under the latter standard, if the proposed four hundred thousand dollar bond election in Glendale is called, such citizens as are required to leave home before 8 a. m. and do not return until after 6 p. m. are practically disfranchised—the school boards have the power to limit the polling places to one, which has been done, causing the voters unnecessary trouble and expense in registering their vote—it allows of moral intimidation, being practically an open ballot whereby the vote of citizens may be determined by other persons—all of which is contrary to the spirit and letter of our general election laws, and whether intentionally or not, it tends to allow the selection and election of those who are in sympathy with the desires of the school officials and to perpetuate them in office.

Great Menace, Claim

These discriminating laws are drafted and put through the Legislature by interested parties and it is stated that at a recent session of the Legislature, representatives of the educators have interfered with the legitimate functions of the legislative machinery in a manner so flagrant as to be a menace to our free institutions and such as would not be tolerated for a moment from any other source.

In local affairs the proportion of taxes spent in Glendale for school purposes has been claimed by the city government to be fifty-one per cent, and in addition to this is a large sum not easily ascertainable received from the state. Over and above the heavy school tax paid directly by taxpayers, our state superintendent of schools asks of this Legislature for the sum of thirty-nine million for elementary and high schools. He was recently reported as stating in Los Angeles that the development of the school system in Los Angeles county is unparalleled. It might also be stated as a corollary that the increase in taxation is also unparalleled. The present tendency in school matters seems to be in the direction of going a little ahead of your neighbors in providing school "plants" of imposing appearance and heavy cost.

The citizens of the Glendale Union High school district recently voted an indebtedness of nearly $700,000 (the bond limit) for ground and buildings for a new high school. Not satisfied with this, the school authorities, after a waiting period elapsed until the new assessment valuation permitted of further bonding capacity, made a call for an additional 350,000.

People Disapprove

Without organization the people registered their dissatisfaction of such action in the stinging rebuke administered at the polls on election day. Regardless of this expression of the public sentiment the High school board is following a program which will give to the citizens of Glendale imposing administrative buildings, an expensive auditorium and facilities for music, art, and the drama, including a complete theatre with the necessary accompaniments, but making no provision for manual arts or gymnasium with the evident intention of ultimately compelling the taxpayers to vote the additional bonds and complete the plant in the manner desired by the educators.

In the present campaign for additional facilities for the lower schools, the writer as well as every other citizen, desires to provide suitable and necessary facilities for properly educating the children, but the writer objects strongly to the methods employed whereby results, such as the Broadway school plant, are consummated; a large sum of money spent with no increase of school facilities is liable to again happen.

Refuses to Be Coerced

I will support many of the items mentioned in the report of the Committee of Fifteen but will not support others, and if the whole matter is put in the form of a blanket issue, as seems to be the intention of the school board, I am free to say that I refuse to be coerced in any such manner.

Complaints relating to heavy taxes are prevalent everywhere and at the present time both the president of the United States and the governor of California are openly committed to a program of retrenchment. Our newly elected governor, Friend W. Richardson, in his inaugural address, has this to say regarding the subject of education. "The people are willing to contribute liberally to education because it promotes better citizenship, but they are not willing to have their money squandered. The educational departments of the state should be placed on an economical and efficient basis, waste should be eliminated and advocates of thrift should be placed in control."

"Squandered" is a very expressive word, but we must admit that it is none too strong. If education were on an economical and efficient basis within the state and controlled by advocates of thrift, there would be no necessity for elimination. More strength to the Governor's arm. His is an extremely difficult position and he should be backed up and encouraged by every taxpayer who believes in the sentiments expressed.

Now, one who merely criticises without suggesting any relief does little better than scold, which leads to no definite results, therefore, I wish to suggest something which it seems to me that taxpayers may do to change the present conditions for the better and provide relief, not only for the taxpayer, but for those who are conducting the management of the schools.

Architect's Big Fee

When the committee which framed the charter of the city of Glendale was working on that instrument, it was advocated by some of the members that a definite plan be embodied therein, whereby in school matters there could be provisions which would embrace the securing of necessary lands in the city wherein the future schools would be needed but while the cost of the land was still at a low figure. Also that plans for necessary buildings be provided in such a way as to be ready when needed for any particular type of building without incurring the expense of architect fees every time a building is needed (the architect's fees on the present school building operations in Glendale will average over $80 per day for the entire year. In Los Angeles it is reported that there are at present nineteen firms employed in the planning of new school buildings). But the committee was informed that there was absolutely nothing that could be done except to provide for a board of education together with the statement that "the power and duties of the Board of Education shall be such as are prescribed by the constitutional laws of the State of California."

As these laws appear to work out, there is no program for necessary expansion and the Board of Education calls a mass meeting to ask for instructions whenever new school facilities are needed. Possibly one half of one percent of the people respond, a committee is appointed, each section of the city asks for what it thinks it wants and a subsequent "mass meeting" is asked to endorse the committee's report in a lump and when the taxpayer foots the bill he is told "it was the action of the people."

The results of such a lack of intelligent foresight and preparedness in the premises are not particularly reassuring as viewed in the light of the experiences of Glendale.

Our educators when abroad proclaim to the world how "generous" the people of California are to the schools. At home no effort is spared to compel the people to do as they wish, even going to the extreme length of taking political action to reverse the expressed wish of the people.

John J. Tigert, Commissioner of Education, Department of the Interior, is quoted as saying: "Education is controlled by the people in America—it is impossible to take any steps forward in education except as the people approve."

Laws For Protection

The gentleman should come to Glendale and watch the modus operandi of securing a million dollar "plant" for school purposes after the people, in spite of the handicap of the school election laws, as previously explained, have emphatically recorded their disapproval.

In conclusion, if the people of this state desire to maintain that fundamental American principle of "no taxation without representation"; if they desire to maintain the peace and security of the home now annually invaded by a silent messenger which calls for ever increasing tribute, giving no quarter, they had best awaken to the real situation, ask their representatives now at Sacramento to enact laws designed for their protection and when such laws are on the statute books say to the political educators "hands off." Also would it not be well to devise and put into operation an all together different method of managing the business end of our school system?

One paid and efficient body in a county should be able to handle the situation to much better advantage and at much less cost than some fifty or sixty bodies, as in this county, whose members are unpaid and often occupy their positions simply because they could be elected.

Respectfully,
G. B. WOODBERRY,

PYTHIAN CASTLE HALL IS PLANNED

Lodge Will Present Dramatic Attraction at Meeting Scheduled Jan. 25

Reports of an enthusiastic time come from the meeting place last night of Glendale Lodge, No. 331, Knights of Pythias, at their hall at Park avenue and Brand boulevard. Several out of town members enjoyed the meeting with the Glendalians.

E. S. Melzer, newly chosen chancellor commander, and his corps of officers have worked out a most promising program for the year. One of the big features is the building program. A building committee has been appointed and will meet tomorrow night to consider plans for building a castle hall during the year. The new hall is to include lodge room, banquet room, parlor, kitchen, recreation and club rooms.

To Present Drama

The lodge members are anticipating a gathering January 25, at which time Newton Beers, actor, will give Banin's drama "Damon and Pythias." The presentation of the play will require about two hours, Mr. Beers portraying the various characters. It will be a benefit for the Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters, their families and friends.

In charge of this affair are G. H. King, chairman; E. S. Melzer, M. J. Edwards, F. E. Peters.

OPEN NEW PROBE IN MOB MURDERS

Grill Sheriff Who Admitted He Authorized Klan to War on Moonshiners

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

BASTROP, La., Jan. 17. — A new investigation into the tampering with official parish documents relating to a raid on the home of Alonzo Braddock, a farmer, by unmasked Ku Klux Klansmen, loomed today at the open hearing on the "hooded mob" murder of Morehouse parish.

Sheriff Carpenter, who declared he had given the Klansmen verbal permission to "clean up moonshiners," was recalled as the first witness of the day. State prosecutors term the Braddock raid "important evidence" in linking the K. K. K. to a "super-government," imposed upon the people of Morehouse parish by night riders, who ultimately murdered Watt Daniel and Thomas F. Richards.

The Klansmen raided Braddock's home in the dead of night and carried him away a prisoner. Braddock identified six of his unmasked captors as Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the Klan; Marvin Pickett, Kurd Pickett, Bent Pratt, Sam Cox and Sam Eldridge, all citizens of the parish. The farmer was charged with illegally making whiskey when captured, but was subsequently acquitted in court. The Klansmen have not yet had an opportunity to be heard.
